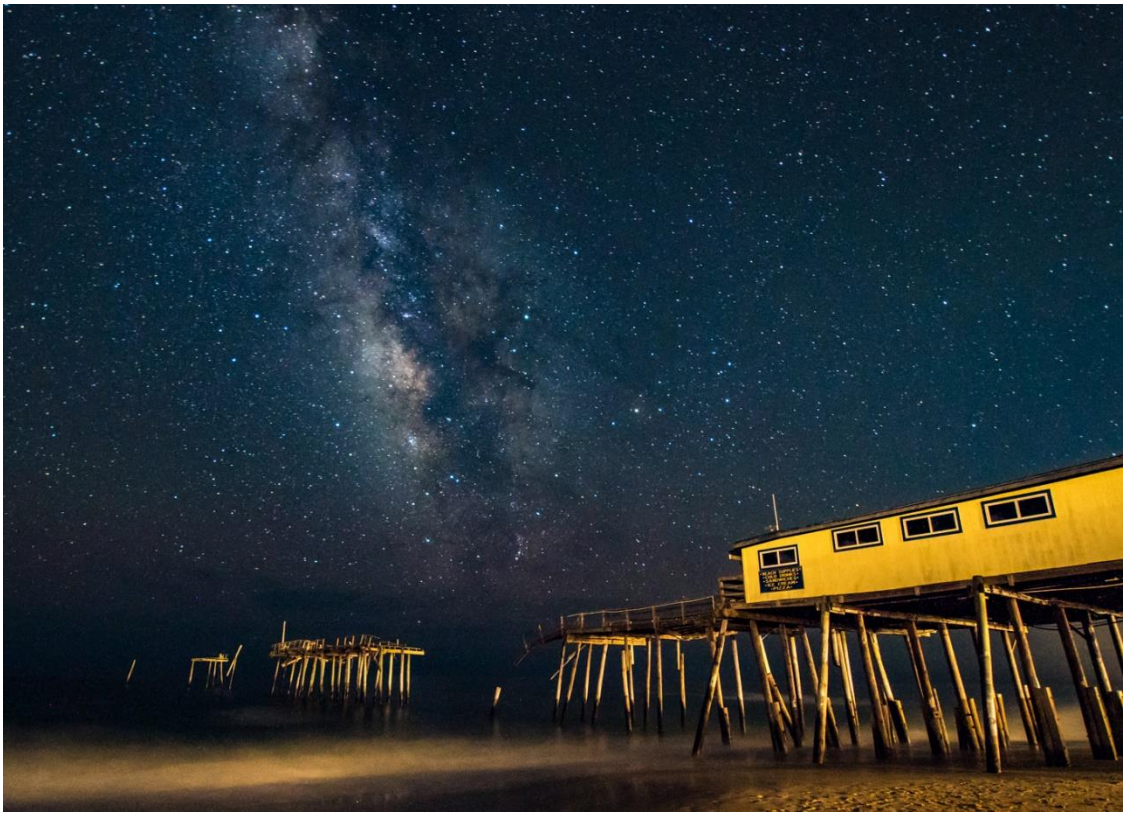
Orlando Camera Club Presents
April 2018 Member Spotlight:

Kathy Barger

Kathy spent her early years in Upstate New York and Massachusetts. After college she moved to Florida to pursue a career as a designer and recently retired from a theme park design firm where she worked for 25 years.

Kathy's interest in photography began when she earned her Girl Scout badge for photography and was inspired by her Dad's interest in photography. After moving to Orlando to start a career as a designer Kathy discovered Crealde School of Art where she took every photography course available and spent many hours in the dark room developing black and white images.

After a long break from photography, she once again returned to her passion when digital DSLR cameras improved and became affordable. With a used Nikon D5000 camera and a couple of lenses, she joined the Orlando Camera Club to take advantage of all the learning opportunities they had to offer. “It is just incredible how much knowledge is being shared today through social media that was not available in the film days.”


”What I most love about photography is how it opens your eyes to the world around and makes you take a closer look. I love to go off to new places to discover what may appear before my lens. I am always looking to learn new things and improve my photography.” Her favorite subjects are anything old, wildlife, sports, landscapes and infrared. She shoots with a Nikon D500 and D800, but also has a Canon G10 converted to infrared.
