General Meeting – Peggy Farren Presents
Selling Your Photography As Art

June 25 @ 6:00 pm - 8:00 pm

Peggy Farren will discuss how to create your brand by putting together a cohesive portfolio, telling your story and tying it all together with a great website and marketing. You'll learn how to develop a plan to start selling your artwork. Topics she'll discuss include:

- What makes a good portfolio of work?
- What is the best way for you to sell your work?
- How do you get into art shows, art fairs, galleries or online galleries?
- What are other markets in which to sell your art?

Peggy will also discuss common mistakes photographers make in trying to sell their work.

Peggy Farren is an award winning, professional photographer, author, instructor and speaker.

She is the host of The Understand Photography Show that focuses on travel, nature and fine art photography. Watch it live on the Understand Photography Facebook page on Fridays at 4pm ET.

Peggy has been interviewed and featured on TV and in many national and local publications. She is one of the photography experts on the popular website, eHow.com, with over 60 training videos on their site.

Ms. Farren has been a full-time professional photographer since 1998. You will see her pictures gracing the covers of many local magazines, as well as national publications. Her studio has flourished while most other full-time photography studios have shut their doors in recent years.

Peggy began offering photography training and tours over eight years ago through her training center "Understand Photography". The school offers training for beginning to advanced photographers, portrait to nature photographers. Peggy has a way of simplifying the technical side of photography so that her classes are in high demand. The motto at Understand Photography is "We Simplify the Technical".

MEMBERS SPOTLIGHT: JIM & KATHY URBACH

Jim learned photography from his dad who took his double reflex camera everywhere. This camera had no eyepiece. You looked down the top at a screen and saw the image. Jim's dad kept the images in scrap books and recorded where they were taken. Around age 10 Jim could finally hold this camera. Jim also followed his dad's technique of saving images in albums. When Jim married Kathy Cartwright they did the same thing with their images. In the military Jim used photography in the operating room as an orthopedic surgeon. He started doing landscape photography in the 1970's. It wasn't until later that Jim really became interested in Nature Photography with an emphasis on Bird Photography. Jim joined the OCC in the early years of the club and have enjoyed all aspects of what they have to offer. Jim especially enjoy being able to shoot with a variety of people and travel with the people in the club. A favorite trip was to India with Bill Bachmann. Jim was also honored to participate in the club's winning submission to the Nature's Best Photography Contest in 2008. Jim and Kathy's group submission won First Place.

Jim really loves photography and hopes he can continue shooting for a long time. You can see more of Jim's images on his website: www.jimurbach.smugmug.com. He also posts on Facebook and naturescapes.net routinely.

OCC FLICKR GROUP

We thought that you might be interested to hear a little more about our Flickr Group here at Orlando Camera Club. Flickr is a worldwide photo sharing platform with over 50 million subscribers and was recently acquired by SmugMug, but remains a separate operating entity. A Flickr account is FREE and remains FREE. Once you have the account, you can upload as many photos as you want, they will be viewed and discussed and followed by photographers all over the world. I can sit for hours looking at all the great work that has been uploaded, and continues to be uploaded every day. The level of photography is truly amazing.

We have set up a group for the Orlando Camera Club so our members can showcase their photos in one easily located group. Now your friends and fellow club members can find them easily and make comments of encouragement. Once your base Flickr account has been established and you have uploaded several photographs, find your way to the Orlando Camera Club Group and ask to join. Once your request has been received and approved, you can add 3 photos per day to the group and start the fun.

2019 Historic Preservation Calendar Photography Contest

2019 Historic Preservation Board Calendar – City of Orlando Photography Competition
What

The City of Orlando’s Historic Preservation Board is excited to announce the theme of the 2019 Historic Preservation Board Calendar and photography competition. The 2019 calendar celebrates Orlando’s historic streetscape and landscape features.

Streetscapes and landscape features visually enhance historic districts, neighborhoods, parks, and business districts. Orlando has a long history of dedicating efforts to increase urban design standards, encourage walkability, and promote our beautiful City.

In 1908, the City sponsored a contest to select a new motto for the City. Mrs. W.S. Branch, Sr., won with her title, "The City Beautiful". The City Beautiful movement was a National effort to enhance the quality of life in cities in the late 19th century and early 20th century by planting street trees for future canopies, paving streets, protecting lakeshores, and creating public parks. In Orlando, beautification efforts involved planting palms, azaleas, and flowering trees and shrubs throughout the City. In 1885, Albert Gallatin Branham planted approximately 400 oak trees in the City, which began the tree canopies found throughout our historic neighborhoods. Orlando’s oldest neighborhoods are also planned around one or more lakes. Many of these lakes are open to the public realm with accessible paths, bridges, and surrounding brick streets with the homes fronting the lake, instead of private lots hiding the lakes from common view. This was a deliberate design plan in Orlando to conserve and promote Orlando’s natural beauty.

2019 will celebrate 100 years since Mayor Giles authorized a bill entitling all women of the City of Orlando to participate in all municipal elections. On May 21, 1919, the women of Orlando exercised their first voting rights by voting and approving a $300,000 bond issue for street paving. In the following years, Orlando’s rural appearance and dirt roads was replaced with bricked streets, widened roadways, and marked parking spaces. In 1926, the Orlando City Plan proposed a system of pleasure drives which would connect lakes and parks with landscaped streets. For over 100 years, the City of Orlando has passed many ordinances and plans to protect and preserve Orlando’s natural beauty, as well as, establishing Historic Districts to preserve historic buildings, and increasing public parks to enhance the quality of life of its citizens. The Historic Preservation Board is seeking photographs that capture the built historic streetscape and landscape enhancements to its natural beauty. Streetscape and landscape features may be defined as bricked streets, decorative fences or gates, bridges, paths, arbors, fountains, statues, monuments, street lighting, or other constructed enhancements throughout the City’s historic neighborhoods, districts, parks, cemeteries, and historic Downtown business district. Photographs may be taken from residences, public streets, or any of the City’s local parks or gardens such as Lake Eola Park, Dickson-Azalea Park, Leu Gardens, Greenwood Cemetery, or Orwin Manor Park.

A $100 honorarium will be awarded to each photographer whose picture is selected for the 2019 Historic Preservation Board Calendar, sponsored by McCoy Federal Credit Union.

For more information about local historic streetscapes and landscapes, maps of the Historic Districts and local Parks, and the Calendar Competition, please visit: <http://www.cityoforlando.net/city-planning/boards/historic-preservation-board/board-calendars/>
